

Languages and the Internationalisation of Higher Education

Edited by Dolores González-Álvarez and Esperanza Rama-Martínez

This volume offers an overview of the context of internationalisation in which plurilingualism becomes a strategic axis for universities and in which university language centres serve as the key instrument to implement this process. It focuses on three key areas in which language centres are working together with governments across Europe, namely: language policy and internationalisation; specific training for the university community; and language testing and accreditation.

Dolores González-Álvarez is a Tenured Lecturer at the University of Vigo, Spain. She obtained her PhD in English Philology from the University of Santiago de Compostela, Spain, in 2000. As Head of the University

Language Centre and Vice-Rector for Students at the University of Vigo, she took an active part in elaborating the university language policy.

Esperanza Rama-Martínez is a Tenured Lecturer at the University of Vigo, Spain. She obtained an MA in Discourse Studies from the University of Liverpool, UK, in 1991 and her Doctorate in English Philology from the University of Santiago de Compostela, Spain, in 2001. As Head of the University of Vigo Language Centre, she organised the 10th Conference of the Association of Language Centres in Higher Education dedicated to the current role of university language centres in the process of internationalisation.

Are you looking for a publisher for your scholarly work?

Cambridge Scholars Publishing is an academic publishing house committed to providing a forward-thinking service that champions original thinking and puts our authors at the heart of everything we do. We have 6,000 titles in our catalogue across a range of subjects; our historic focus has been on the Social Sciences, but we have burgeoning collections in the fields of Health Sciences, Life Sciences and Physical Sciences.

Our international Editorial Advisory Board members, noted for their expertise, have a wealth of collective publishing experience and help to shape the strategy and content of our publications in these fields. We welcome all proposals for our four key subject areas of Health Sciences, Life Sciences, Physical Sciences and Social Sciences that champion original thinking.

We provide a dedicated author service, with no cost to the editor or author, complimentary copies, and a substantial author discount that can be used on our whole back catalogue. We also offer a generous royalty structure, where authors receive royalties from the very first sale.

In addition, our publishing process is faster than most other publishers, usually being less than six months after final submission without compromising either the quality of the publication or the balance between editorial guidance and the author's control over the integrity of their original argument.

Our publications (published in hardback and also available in e-book format) are marketed worldwide and sold through international booksellers and distributors including Amazon, Blackwell, Baker & Taylor, YBP and Ingram, and are widely purchased by academic libraries. We have an ever expanding portfolio of distribution partnerships in key geographical territories such as the USA, China, India and the Middle East.
